Mayor Replies To Bulletin

Editorial Answered In Paving Controversy

Mayor Harry Ainlay today criticized The Edmonton Bulletin for making what he described as a personal attack on himself.

The mayor's statement was in reply to an editorial in Thursday's Bulletin entitled "Mayor Ainlay's Paving Pledge."

In fairness to Mayor Ainlay, The Bulletin today reprints in full his statement. It follows:

Gromyko Recalled By Russia

By Robert Manning

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., May 14.—(HUP)—Russia recalled veto-wielding Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko today as chief Soviet delegate to the United Nations in a shakeup of diplomatic personnel.

The stoic, 38-year-old Soviet diplomat will be succeeded in a few days by Jacob A. Malik, another deputy foreign minister and a long-time associate of Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

Gromyko disclosed that he will return to Moscow soon for a long-delayed vacation and he admitted that he did not know where he would be assigned when the vacation ends next fall.

It was considered almost certain that Gromyko, Russia's spokesman at UN since its founding nearly three years ago, was marked for a more important assignment in the Soviet diplomatic service.

MALIK ON WAY

Gromyko's successor already is enroute here from London to become chief Soviet UN delegate. He is the man who, as Soviet ambassador to Tokyo, delivered Russia's declaration of war to the Japanese government in 1945.

Officially, the Soviet delegation maintained that Gromyko would leave America for a vacation of two months or more during that time, Malik would be chief UN delegate.

However, the Kremlin was certain, however, that the Kremlin would have assigned one of the seasoned Russian diplomats now here for the Palestine debate to succeed Gromyko if he were returning to the job.

They added that when Moscow goes to the trouble of sending a deputy foreign minister all the way from home to Lake Success, the man can be counted on to remain for an appreciable time.

Russia Protests Greek Ex-oncours

LONDON, May 14.—(AP)—Tass the Soviet news agency, said today that Russia has protested to the Greek government against the execution of Greek rebels.

Man Confesses Firing 18 Homes in Quebec

STE. AGATHE, Que., May 14.—(CP)—Provincial police announced today that D'Assise Menard has confessed setting fire to 18 Jewish-owned homes in the Val Morin district.

Capt. J. A. Quenneville told Menard as saying he did not like Jews and "that they are all Communists."

Menard, released from a mental institution less than two months ago, was captured early today when he came out of the woods and was walking on the railway tracks.

He has been charged with arson and will appear in Magistrate's court at Ste. Agathe Monday.

Capt. Quenneville said Menard, when captured, was bent on setting more fires and had confessed to this also. He was carrying 600 rounds when captured.

Nine of the summer homes and

The Edmonton Bulletin has at last come out in the open with a personal attack on the Mayor of Edmonton. I have known for some time that a sensational attack on Edmonton's problems was likely to be made, probably with the idea of increasing circulation at the expense of someone else. It would appear that a newcomer to Edmonton would take a little longer to learn of local conditions.

I deny emphatically that I have broken any pledge made to the people of Edmonton. Just last November the residents of this city renewed their confidence in me without any conditions.

FIVE-YEAR PLAN

The Mayor, and everyone else, besides the Editor of The Bulletin, would like to see more paving done in Edmonton. The latter has not started any new crusade. Soon after taking office, a five-year plan was worked out with a million a year for paving.

Since that time, each year, the contract was let for all the paving which the Mayor or the Council had passed the program without any deductions.

That each year's program was not carried out, The Bulletin editor should know was due to conditions over which the Mayor or the Council had no control. The expanded program was not curtailed through failure to vote the necessary funds, although tenders were called for, only one company submitted one.

In 1946 a contract was given for $721,659 and only $454,134 worth was completed. The Editor, apparently is not aware that in 1946 we diverted from our limited cement supply, 30 carloads to make about 200 veterans to start their own homes.

In 1947 it was considered foolish

UN Mediator To Go To Holy Land

LAKE SUCCESS, May 14.—(CP)—The political committee of the special Palestine Assembly voted today to send a United Nations mediator to the Holy Land. The vote was 37 to 0, with 15 abstentions.

The proposal for a peace mission, sponsored by the United States and France, now goes to a plenary meeting of the 58 member countries for final action.

Top Jewish representatives here said today the newly-proclaimed Jewish state of Israel will make itself secure regardless of what the United Nations does.

cottages were destroyed. Others were partly damaged or practically undamaged because the fires, found in mattresses and sofas, were snuffed out by firemen.

Police said Menard, a 25-year-old native of the district, had also confessed to setting fire last January to two cottages and a small Jewish synagogue in the Val Morin area.

He also told police he had been working in a lumber camp but left because "people were swearing at me the time." Another reason for leaving the summer residents of Val Morin was that "women were seen on the streets in shorts."

At one time in 1943 more than 30,000 American service personnel were stationed in and around Whitehorse.

Construction of the Alaska Highway, stretching north from Edmonton to Alaska and the Canal pipeline from Normay Wells to Whitehorse brought the stupendous population boom.

IT MUST CLOSE ITS EYES

Christine Cries For a Baby Doll

By Harlo Jones

Little four-year-old Christine is crying because she hasn't a baby doll that closes its eyes.

In a letter addressed to "The Local Press," Edmonton, her adopted mother in Cornwall, England, explained her problem.

The letter was delivered to The Bulletin.

There is a story behind why the little girl hasn't got the doll she wants and it is a story of two countries, and a war, and England's troubles after the war.

Christine, writes her adopted mother, asked Father Christmas for her doll last year, but she didn't get one.

"I have searched for weeks for 'a doll that closes its eyes' but they are all for export, not for us," the mother explained.

"My husband and I have adopted this little girl to give her a home, and are doing all in our power to take her Daddy's place, but austerity is worse in Britain now than during the war and our children do not know the joys of childhood as we did," she said.

And there is a reason, too, why she addressed her letter to the people of Edmonton.

"She is a rather special little girl," wrote the little girl's parent, "as she had a Canadian Daddy from the town of Edmonton, Alberta."

So Christine suggested that they write a letter to Canada to see if there is a doll like the one she wants in this country.

"She promptly wrote a lot of baby language on a piece of paper which she says means, 'Can I have a doll that really closes its eyes?'"

"I'm afraid," the mother added, "that you wouldn't understand her scribble."

"I am wondering," she appealed in her letter, "if there are any of your readers who might have a baby doll. Even an old discarded one will do."

And there is a reason, too, why Christine's Edmonton Daddy can't buy her the doll she wants.

He was killed at Salerno.

LEGALITY OF RUSSIAN MARRIAGE UNDER FIRE

Was a Baptist marriage considered legal in Russia between the years 1906-1911?

That is the question on which the case of George Preseniuk, 10157 100A street, hinges.

He is charged with bigamy.

The crown contends that he was married in Odessa, Russia, during the reign of the Czar and that again in 1943 went through a form of marriage in Canada.

Defence Counsel Guy Patterson told the court today that he believes the first marriage was not recognized by the Russian government and is therefore not legal.

The case was remanded for a week.

At that time the crown expects to bring forth a Russian bishop, now in Ottawa, who will be able to give expert evidence on the Russian church marriage laws.

Ben Gurion Heads New Jewish State

Arab Troops Poised For Invasion of Palestine

From BUP and Reuters Dispatches

TEL AVIV, May 14.—Sixty-year-old David Ben Gurion today became premier of the new Jewish state of Israel proclaimed on the day Britain's Palestine mandate ended.

Even as the Jewish dream of almost 2,000 years—a state of their own—came true at 4 p.m. (7 a.m. Edmonton time) with a formal proclamation by Jewish leaders, Hagana troops were fighting Arabs in the Holy City.

Unconfirmed private reports said Hagana forces seized control of most of new Jerusalem today by advancing toward the old city walls.

Hagana would not comment on the reports.

Egypt, wealthiest and most powerful of Arab nations, proclaimed martial law effective one minute after midnight tonight, and pointed 10,000 men on the Palestine border to invade at that moment.

At Beirut, president Bechara El Khouri of Lebanon decreed an emergency and empowered the military to keep order. It was the equivalent of declaring martial law, and the step apparently was taken preparatory to sending Lebanese troops into Palestine.

SIMILAR ACTION

Reports from Damascus said that Syria was taking similar action, and the indications were that both Syrian and Lebanese troops would drive into Palestine soon after the British mandate ends officially at midnight tonight.

The Hagana high command today broadcast an appeal to the Jewish population to be ready for the possibility of invasion and to dig in at their homes.

Two hours after the proclamation of the Jewish state, Hagana called for a partial blackout in Jewish cities as from tonight, called also for trenches to be dug in rural settlements.

At the same time the Jewish provisional government revoked the British White Paper of 1939 limiting immigration to Palestine and legislation limiting land sales. The law limiting land sales to Jews was revoked retroactively from May 15, 1939, the day after the White Paper was issued. All other existing laws remain in force in the Jewish state.

NOT TO PROLONG STAY

In London, Defence Minister A. V. Alexander today gave a "categorical assurance" that Britain has no intention of putting reinforcements into Palestine to prolong the fighting. He was winding up a final debate on Palestine in the House of Commons before British relinquishes her Holy Land mandate.

Ben Gurion, the new premier, also takes the defence portfolio in the Jewish National Council which will act as provisional council for the new state.

His 12 ministers are: Foreign affairs, Moshe Shertok; treasury, Eliezer Kaplan; communications, David Ben-Gurion; industry and supplies, F. Ben-Gurion; home affairs, I. Grunbaum; immigration, M. Shapir; labor and public work, M. Ben-Gurion; agriculture, Zisling; police, B. Shitreet; justice, F. Rosenbluth; ministers without portfolio, Rabbis J. L. Fishman and I. M. Levin.

The British mandate officially did not expire until midnight tonight (6 p.m. EDT), but British High Commissioner Sir Alan Cunningham, when formally signalled its end, nearly 14 hours earlier.

At 10:08 a.m. (4:08 a.m. EDT), Cunningham signalled the end of the mandate with a launch at the Haifa wharf to go to a British cruiser in the harbor.

Great as were the difficulties confronting the new state, Jews hailed with rejoicing the proclamation that it states they had referred to it for months as "our state that will be"—had become a reality.

Premier Announces Preliminary Steps

OTTAWA, May 14.—(CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced today in the Commons that the government is bringing down the first part of its long-awaited national health insurance plan at this session of parliament.

He said the program will mean the expenditure of $30,000,000 a year of public money over the next five years.

In the main, these preliminary steps will be the awarding of grants to cover:

1. A health survey.
2. Strengthening of general public health services.
3. Tuberculosis control.
4. Mental health care.
5. Venereal disease control.
6. Treatment of crippled children.
7. Professional training of public health personnel.
8. Public health research.
9. Control of cancer.
10. Hospital construction.

He told the chamber in a 3,000-word statement that parliament will be asked at this session to make the necessary financial provision for the program.

He announced also that Health Minister Martin, plans, a few days after an early meeting with the appropriate technical officers of the various provincial departments of health and the Dominion council of health.

This meeting would work out "the detailed arrangements of the proposed health grants, and, in particular, the conditions to be attached to their administration."

DETAILS PROPOSED

Detailing the specific proposals, Mr. King said the federal government proposed to make available immediately to all the provinces a non-recurring health survey grant of $625,000.

It will be divided as follows: a flat grant of $5,000 to each province, the balance to be divided between the provinces on the basis of population with the province in no case shall the provincial grant be less than $15,000.

This money is to help the provinces set up machinery to ensure most effective use of other health grants now being proposed and to plan the extension of hospital accommodation and the proper organization of hospital and medical care insurance.

The government also will grant the provinces 30 cents per capita to strengthen general public health services "where provincial authorities themselves most keenly recognize the need."

GRANT INCREASES

In succeeding years, this grant will increase by five cents per capita until it reaches a peak of 50 cents.

To help eradicate tuberculosis, parliament will be asked to make available to the provinces an annual grant of $1,000,000.

Cool showers, cloudy skies.

That's what's in store for us today and tonight, but the weatherman has promised it will improve overnight.

The rains came following a "weather disturbance" that moved in here from Canada's California, Vancouver, but indications now point to a sunny week-end with temperatures hovering about the 60 mark.

ONLY HALF RIGHT ABOUT BULLDOG

Bull Was Wrong, He's Motorman, Not Matador

It's a lot of bull—but it's a good yarn.

For street railway motorman Albert H. Radke, 1702 80 street, it proved to be quite a shock.

"I was peacefully working in the garage Thursday afternoon," Radke said, "I heard a noise behind me—sort of a snort."

"I thought it was the neighbor's bulldog," he added.

Radke was half right—it was a bull but the dog part was missing.

About 2,000 pounds of beef came charging at him.

The animal struck him on the chest and knocked him flying.

Mr. Bull was a bit and run character—he just kept right on going.

Later it was discovered the big black bull had escaped from a government corral at the exhibition grounds.

"Luckily it didn't happen a few minutes sooner," Radke said, "My wife and three-year-old child were in the garden with me then."

Radke was not seriously injured although he stated he was kind of stiff on one side.

Later the bull was captured and taken home.

MISTAKEN IDENTITY made things difficult for Albert Radke Thursday afternoon. He was working in his garden, heard a snort, thought it came from a neighbor's bulldog. Moment later he found out it was a no bulldog, just a bull. —Photo by Blanc

Whitehorse To Be Yukon Capital But First Must Become a Town

By Jack De Long

Bulletin Staff Reporter

WHITEHORSE, Y.T., May 14.—Whitehorse is to become the capital of the vast Yukon Territory within the next two years but first of all it's got to be incorporated as a town.

Only construction of a new federal building within the next two years holds back transfer of the capital from famed old Dawson City, according to plans here.

Although Whitehorse boasts of 3,500 people against some 550 for the present capital of Dawson City, the town doesn't legally exist.

There is no mayor, no council and consequently no city rate.

The "town" is run by the territorial council of the Yukon Territory and governed from Dawson City, 460 miles to the northeast.

Nobody in Whitehorse seemed to resent this situation much before the Second World War.

The Whitehorse area was a sleepy little place inhabited by about 600 persons, white and native, prior to 1942.

Then came the great American invasion and Whitehorse has never been and never will be the same again.

At one time in 1943 more than 30,000 American service personnel were stationed in and around Whitehorse.

Construction of the Alaska Highway, stretching north from Edmonton to Alaska and the Canal pipeline from Normay Wells to Whitehorse brought the stupendous population boom.

It Happened TODAY

People

American-born Lady Kathleen Harrington, 28, and her husband, 36-year-old wealthy Lord Fitzwilliam were both killed in the crash of a chartered plane in mountainous country of Southern France. Authorities believe the craft may have been struck by lightning.

In Toronto, Inez Barr went to sleep at home, woke up in the hospital, in between time she had sleep-walked out of an 18-foot-high window.

TYRONE POWER
Globe Trotter.

A Salt-Lake City judge had a table-turning argument, decided they had better fight. A woman witness gave her name as Mrs. Josephine Doe. When asked her husband's name she replied, "Oh, I've been a widow all my life."

In Italy, two natives got into a table-turning argument, decided they had better fight. A woman witness gave her name as Mrs. Josephine Doe. When asked her husband's name she replied, "Oh, I've been a widow all my life."

Honeymooning Roy Dawson, 21, and his 19-year-old bride Betty, of Vancouver, left on a holiday trip to Mexico. Their car collided with a logging truck at Eugene, Oregon. Both died in hospital a few hours later.

Rival, constantly arguing lake-head cities of Fort William and Port Arthur have a new problem to battle over. Port Arthur's mayor Charles G. McKee is seeking election as liberal candidate for Fort William, while Port William's mayor Garfield Anderson is campaigning for re-election as GCF member for the riding.

Crime

Police in Southern France suspect they have caught another Bluebeard. Former church sexton Emile Deschamps is being held on charges of murdering two women, is being investigated in connection with disappearance of a third.

Mrs. Percy LaMarche, Kirkland Lake, Ontario, was committed for trial for the coal-stove slaying of her two-month-old son. Told police she found the child in the stove after she had made a fire.

World

In Berlin, Soviet controlled newspapers are calling U.S. Secretary of State George C. Marshall a "foe of peace." Said he was responsible for rejecting Soviet overtures for two-power talks to end the "cold war."

At Cabell, Ontario, officials of the Harrison Hibbert mine revealed their operations had uncovered a new silver vein, told police she found the child in the stove after she had made a fire.

Special Committee To Probe Margarine

OTTAWA, May 14.—(CP)—Senator Wishart Robertson, government leader, announced today he will move at the opening of the next session of parliament for a senate committee investigation "into all questions on margarine."

He told the senate his motion will authorize the special committee on natural resources to study the situation in Canada respecting fat and oils, main ingredients of the butter substitute.

His statement was the latest development on a topic that has involved the chamber of commerce, the debate for three consecutive sessions at each session a bill by Senator W. D. Bales (L.-Ontario) for repeal of the ban against margarine has been defeated.

The committee would study the facts and oils situation from every angle. Senator Robertson recently told the world's shortage of margarine in Canada for three years, even if the ban were lifted.

The botanical gardens at Kew, Surrey, England, were founded in 1759 by George III's mother.

L. F. McIntosh, Saskatchewan minister for co-operatives and industry, said provincial bookings have been made for shipping 150 British-manufactured cars to Winnipeg via Hudson's Bay.

In Ottawa, Canada's department of external affairs is trying to find out why there is a mention of God in the United Nations draft on human rights. Suggested one member: "Because there are a lot of different religions represented in the United Nations conference."

U.S. Congress passed a bill compelling executive agencies to give Congress information it demands only after a clause authorizing fines and imprisonment for newspapermen who write stories about confidential information was struck out. If passed by the Senate, Truman says he'll veto the measure.

Saskatchewan government officials revealed the public has wholeheartedly accepted the hospital plan which provides basic hospital care for everybody for $5 per year. Collections for the whole province totalled 96 per cent of amount which could be collected.

In Montreal, British strip-mining expert Sir Albert Braithwaite said Canada should build large steel plants at places where Alberta coal and Labrador iron ore can be economically brought together, send steel to England to be manufactured into finished goods.

Nature

Railroad engineer E. D. Lane, of El Paso, Texas, saw two ducks flying along side of his train, pointed his arm out the cab window and shouted "Bang!" One of the ducks made a large half-circle in the air, dropped on top of a freight car where the brakeman retrieved it. There were no bullets in it, but it was dead.

In Florida, Dr. W. G. Kirk, vice-director of Florida's cattle experimental station, said cattle can thrive and fatten on spruce; warned cattlemen not to feed them to wild ones. It makes them angry.

Next will come construction of a new federal building, work on which has been shelved for two years because of building material and labor shortage.

R. Gordon Lee, territorial councillor for Whitehorse district in the Territorial Council and a veteran resident of the town, declares that "capitalism" will come once the federal building is completed.

There are many good reasons for transfer of the capital from St. John's to Whitehorse. First of all more than half the white population of the entire territory live in Whitehorse.

Secondly, Whitehorse is connected with the Pacific ocean by the only railway in the territory, the fabulous, narrow-gauge White Pass and Yukon that winds 120 miles to the Pacific ocean at Skagway, Alaska.

Lastly, Whitehorse is right on the famed Alaska Highway and has a military air base in all defensive plans for the North American Continent.

Dawson City has neither rail nor road connections with the outside. So now Whitehorse is out after a capital dome and seems likely to get it before long.

The Yukon is governed by a territorial council of three, elected for three-year terms. The territory is divided into three districts: Dawson, Whitehorse and Mayo.

John H. Brown represents Dawson; R. Gordon Lee, Whitehorse and E. J. Corp. Mayo.

The territorial council has control of local taxation, administration of schools and hospitals, and all matters relating to regulating general affairs of the people with the exception of police, crown lands, timber and mineral rights.

The territory is policed by the RCMP. Since 1901, the Yukon has had one elected member of the Canadian House of Commons. He is the Hon. George Black, M.P.

Dominion government departmental affairs are administered by a controller, E. Gibbons, a former stipendiary magistrate at Yellowknife.

The councillor is appointed by the Dominion government. He attends sessions of the Territorial Council but does not participate in discussions.

The Yukon believes the rest of Canada should take more in the solutions of the territory's peculiar problems.

Residents of Whitehorse are certain things will improve in the Territory when the capital is established in that thriving north-and-centre.

Flood Conditions Improve in Alta.

Water Levels of Rampaging Rivers Continue to Drop

Flood conditions in Northern Alberta continued to improve this morning with water levels of rampaging rivers still dropping, but many families are still unable to return to their homes.

The Pembina river, which has flooded thousands of acres of rich farmland in the Rossington and Manola districts, dropped about eight inches during the night.

SOME HOMELESS
Several families are still homeless at Rossington, and further rain is preventing them from returning to clean up.

At Manola one family is still unable to return to its home. The Paddle river is also receding steadily and residents of the Manola districts feel both the Paddle and Pembina rivers will drop fast, lessening the danger of a new flood when mountain water increases.

Roads in the Rossington districts are still impassable and many vehicles bound for Barrhead from Westlock have been unable to get through.

At one point along the road two miles west of Rossington, five feet of water still covers the highway. Further rain is putting the roads in an even worse condition.

Meanwhile in Manitoba and British Columbia, conditions were not as promising.

ASSINIBOINE SWELLS
The Assiniboine river in Manitoba is continuing to swell, overflowing along a 20-mile stretch east of Portage La Prairie.

Bad breaks south of the Assiniboine, 30 miles west of Winnipeg, caused the dispatch of 30 soldiers and 500 sandbags Thursday.

British Columbia shared with Manitoba the hazards of spring floods.

The Pacific coast province reported heavy flooding in the Cariboo district 150 miles northeast of Vancouver, where the Bonaparte river spilled over thousands of acres of crop and pastureland.

Summer Army Uniforms Ordered But Will Be Late

OTTAWA, May 14.—(CP)—Defence Minister Caxton said yesterday new summer uniforms have been ordered for the permanent force but will not be delivered before late summer.

He made a Commons' reply to questions by George Cruickshank, Conservative M.P., that the army is being issued cast-off RCAF uniforms.

Cruickshank said arrangements were made last year to provide army summer uniforms of the same texture as those for the RCAF. However, the cloth was not available in sufficient quantities at that time.

Mayor Replies To The Bulletin

to let a contract. More than we were assured could be completed to know our situation was $527,567, but $551,503 was spent.

Early in 1948 contracts to the city of $425,533 were let and we were assured that that was all which could be completed. But, the Commissioners have always intended to expand the program if and when supplies could be increased. We did not need the Bulletin to issue any such orders.

FAVORABLE COMMENT
The Bulletin further mentions the dirtiness of the city but there have been many favorable comments during the last two years regarding the improvement in the appearance of the city and considerable sums have been spent in the same period for snow removal never before carried out to the same extent.

Mention is also made, by the same Bulletin, of the use of a bitulite and asphalt mixture instead of a concrete road. The Bulletin is certainly very complimentary in its suggestions that we or our engineers know as much about such matters as its Editor. It seems to me I have read of a shoemaker who did not know how to last.

As a matter of fact the paper said recently that our paving was distinguished by the fact that we could build new streets. If the Editor knew this city as he should he would know that we are not failing the city was built in just the way he is advising us to. Jasper Avenue for instance never had any cement and we all know what is happening on that street.

DEPENDS ON BASE
Mention is made of runways built for airports without cement, being capable of carrying 70,000 pounds. Is it not strange then that the Dominion and American engineers increased the thickness of our runways during the war and with concrete on a bitulite top laid only six months before? No competent engineer would make such a statement without taking into consideration the local conditions.

The strength of a roadway or runway depends on the base. If we were to build our roads with such a base it would be more costly than using a concrete base. Calgary's runways were paved with concrete and no heavy machines cannot use the port.

Most of the paving in the last two years has been done on bus routes, because we felt that public transportation had the priority claim. Every engineer knows that this kind of traffic required a solid base on such soil as ours. Other cities I could mention are finding that out to their present sorrow.

We have been experimenting for some years with a cheaper type of pavement in a purely residential area and if it can be used if all heavy traffic is banned from the area but this year's program is also largely confined to the bus routes.

The Bulletin might also remember that in 1945 I warned the people of Edmonton that if they wished to ride on rubber they must realize that it would likely cost more and that heavy paving would be one item.

All of the points I have mentioned have already been given to the public by the means of several radio broadcasts.

It is not my intention to promote any particular paper by entering into a newspaper controversy, but, as this last editorial constituted a personal attack and not merely a criticism of policy, against my better judgment, I am answering the charges and giving the residents of Edmonton the above information.

I quite freely admit, I know

France Greet Royal Couple

PARIS, May 14.—(Reuters)—Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip today called on Vincent Auriol, President of France, who presented the Grand Cross of the Legion of Honor to the Princess and the Croix de Guerre with Palm to the Prince.

It was the first ceremony of their five-day visit to Paris—the first visit of the heiress-presumptive to the British throne to a country outside the British Commonwealth. Immediately afterwards they drove to the Arc de Triomphe where the Princess placed a wreath on the tomb of the unknown soldier.

nothing about running a newspaper, but I also humbly submit that I know more about running the city than an editor of a paper.

The Bulletin writes about my attack on the paper, but who started this business? The paper, apparently, resents correction. This is their interpretation of "The Freedom of the Press."

3-Months Hard Labor For Assault Chinese Suffered Face Injuries In Cafe Fracas

A Whyte Avenue Chinese cafe proprietor, Henry Leong, was brutally beaten Thursday night.

William J. Frost, Edmonton, charged with assault was sentenced to three months hard labor at Fort Saskatchewan.

On an additional charge of willful damage, Frost received another six weeks.

According to police reports the assault started when the Chinese attempted to remove Frost from his premises, the Scots cafe.

When police arrived on the scene at 11:45 p.m., they found Leong on the pavement, in front of the cafe.

During the fracas a window in the Red Star newsstand next door had been broken.

Frost was arrested and taken into custody.

The Chinese was taken to the University hospital. According to reports today he suffered a fractured nose and a possible fractured cheekbone.

High Standard Of Elocution

The high standard of elocution in the Edmonton district musical festival was commented on by Judge M. Leona Paterson of Calgary Thursday at the closing sessions of the elocution events.

Mrs. Paterson considered the elocution speaking here as the best she had ever heard. She was also pleased with several junior classes, Canadian poetry speaking and the women's open and dramatic classes.

She said the festival committee and the competitors were to be congratulated on the amount and quality of the speech work here.

Events concluded Thursday with competitors receiving the usual high marks.

Donald Pierce won the first place in the dramatic class under 14 years with an excerpt from Master Skylark. His characterization was excellent and he was completely in his work, the adjudicator commented.

Marjorie Goulet also displayed the proper amount of simplicity in her selection from Little Women to gain second place with 87 marks.

In the grade nine class, Eileen Starch had a beautiful lyric quality in her voice and dramatic concentration. In giving her 84 marks and first place, Paterson told her she had done very well.

Arnold Bainbridge and Donald Pearce set the scene for Robin and won first place in the junior dialogue class. They carried their audience with them and were awarded 80 marks.

Mrs. Paterson considered the Canadian poetry class under ten years a beautiful class well worth listening to. She said that each entrant had created a very lovely mood and gave first place to Lenore Dalton who gave a "sincere interpretation" of a poem.

"She was awarded 87 marks and was followed by Shirley Cowan with 86.

First place in the monologue class went to Philip Seabrook with 87 marks. Mrs. Paterson considered his pantomime and facial expression good and his changes of mood excellent.

Bryan Aird was second with 86 marks and was commended for his splendid concentration.

Kaye Solberg of Calgary, with 86 marks, took first place in the grade four class. Mrs. Paterson said there was a lot of thought behind her work.

Patricia McLaughlin with 85 marks was second.

In the intermediate dialogues, Dolores Butnor and Joyce Buckles only entrants, received 80 marks.

Young Musicians To Take Exams

Nearly 1,000 young musicians in Alberta will write Western Board of Music examinations, it was learned today.

Total of 216 music students will write theory examinations, on Friday and Saturday, May 14 and 15.

Number of practical examination writers has not yet been compiled, but is expected to reach 800.

Practical exams will begin June 10 for the province, and will continue through to about June 24.

Edmontonians will begin writing practical exams June 16.

Plans to organize six provincial constituencies in the Calgary region will be discussed at a meeting of the Independent Party to be held in the southern city at the week end.

Similar meetings are planned for Lethbridge and other southern regions.

Rains Halt McMurray Fire Danger

Some Damage
To Property
And Roads Result

Rains of Thursday and Friday have saved the town of McMurray from threatened destruction by fire.

Word reaching Edmonton today from North West Territories and Yukon Radio System station at McMurray was that bush fire raging in the town are "completely under control."

McMurray is about 350 miles north of Edmonton at the junction of the Athabasca and Clearwater rivers.

The neighboring village of Waterways is also out of danger although smoke haze in the river valleys is still causing some anxiety.

There has been some damage to property and roads in the vicinity of the town.

Despite the rain small blazes were breaking out in spots Thursday afternoon but were easily extinguished.

Continuation of the present rain will completely eliminate the hazard, the radio dispatch stated.

Fires broke out on the outskirts of McMurray Wednesday and the advancing flames were fought by bulldozers and gangs of men.

All schools were closed as the fire approached close to the buildings.

Royal Canadian Corps of Signals operate the radio station at McMurray.

Edmonton Bishop Will Turn Sod

His Rev. W. F. Barfoot, Anglican bishop of Edmonton, will officiate at a breaking ground ceremony for the erection of Holy Trinity church Memorial Hall Saturday.

Bishop Barfoot will turn the first sod in a ceremony scheduled to begin at 3 p.m.

Churchwardens, vestry and presidents of organizations will then turn sod.

A church tea and sale of home cooking will be held in the church basement after the ceremony.

Guests at the tea will be received by Bishop Barfoot, Canon and Mrs. Nainby, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Tye and Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Dyer.

All members of the congregation and friends are invited to attend.

SUMMER COMES, GRASS FIRES TOO FIREMEN FIND

Coming of summer was indicated by number of grass fires extinguished by the fire department this month, while number from other causes showed a decrease from March.

Monthly report of the fire department accounted for 44 fires from all causes, of which 7 were chimney fires. There were 58 in March.

Causes of the fires were put down to children with matches and fireworks, cigarette butts, smoking in bed, short circuits and faulty heaters.

Four grass fires were extinguished during the past week.

City residents have been asked to make arrangements with the fire department to have last year's dry grass burned under supervision of a fireman.

This will be of brick construction and will occupy 132 feet by 219 feet. It will be a two storey building.

Architects on the project are Blakey and Blakey, and the contractors Christianson and Macdonald.

Permits Issued For New Projects

Building permits for two major construction projects were issued Thursday by the city architect's department.

The Bank of Toronto took out a permit for $344,000 for the erection of a bank building at 10660 82 avenue.

It will be two storeys, and of concrete, brick and tile construction. It will cover an area of 40 feet 10 inches by 150 feet.

Nobody Is Running Edmonton

The trouble with Edmonton is that nobody is running it.

This is a condition that affects a good many civic corporations.

In Edmonton, this lack of aggressive and enterprising business leadership is tragically revealed in the collapse of the street system, in the inadequate transportation service and in the general failure to fill up those vacant spaces throughout the city that make the area a sprawling and uneven conglomeration of communities expensive to serve and to govern.

Nobody is running Edmonton.

That doesn't mean that there are not capable men in charge of some departments—and some highly incapable ones too. But any organization of even capable men must have a head. There must be somebody to make immediate and final decisions, to sit back and dream up plans of progress, to shoulder the ultimate responsibility for the success or failure of the community.

No $30,000,000 corporation can run efficiently without a responsible, capable and large-calibre head competent to rise

In Edmonton, routine detail occupies practically all the time of the mayor and commissioners.

That is why Edmonton is run on a patchwork basis. For the routine-bound mind is incapable of initiating broad policies or of embarking on those large projects of progress which are the fruit of vision and which alone can make a city great.

The routine-bound mind is probably good enough at running out to patch up the worst potholes in the streets. But it is incapable of envisioning an entire new system of streets.

In fact, Mayor Ainlay confesses that there are streets in Edmonton that will never be paved.

The only apparent antidote to the small-calibre defeatist attitude of some of Edmonton's civic leaders is an injection of new ideas and new spirit.

One sure way of getting that moral lift is to call in an outside group of civic experts to survey Edmonton's down-at-the-heel situation and show just exactly what needs to be done.

BRIDGE

Mischievous Old Mr. Shaw

George Bernard Shaw writes an article in the London Daily Herald in which he makes the astonishing statement that Joseph Stalin is the "most responsible ruler in Europe" and that his foreign policy is superior to that of Britain.

For all his 91 years, at which age most normal people of good will are making their peace with God, Mr. Shaw is still the world's number one egomaniac. He lives for Shaw, and even mentions a vegetarian diet that Shaw's idiosyncracies may publicize Shaw.

As so many newspaper columnists have discovered, it pays to shock the public and to make the public mad. So he comes out with these preposterous statements.

ments, not that he believes them, but because they keep him vibrantly in the public eye.

Once upon a time his undoubtedly great plays kept him deservedly in the limelight. But his creative genius has preceded him to the grave. And so in his latter days of frustration and literary sterility, his passion for applause and notice makes him have recourse to such impudent nonsense as this.

It is said that the mule is a mean and recalcitrant animal because he is aware that he is barren.

Perhaps it is for a similar reason that Mr. Shaw has become a mischievous and trouble-making old man.

From Edmonton to Dawson Creek

The permanency of Edmonton's link with the Peace River country depends upon the speed with which the highway between this city and Dawson Creek is completed.

If construction of the road from Vancouver to Dawson Creek is finished before our link with Dawson Creek is put in shape, Edmonton will see a gradual diversion of Peace River business to the Pacific Coast.

That business means millions of dollars a year to Edmonton. To retain it, Alberta will have to maintain a real highway service.

The Alaska Highway, starting at Dawson Creek, is a first class, all-weather road. But the Alaska Highway will have absolutely no commercial value to Edmonton.

unless this city is directly tied in with it.

Actually, little progress in developing Alberta's end of this route has been made in the past 20 years.

On October 25, 1928, a Grande Prairie resident drove from Edmonton to Fort St. John, a distance of more than 600 miles, in 26 hours and ten minutes.

Today, under spring conditions, it would be impossible to drive that route at all.

Bridges are badly needed at Beason and Watino, the two main arteries to the Alaska Highway. A large part of the highway is waiting for complete construction and gravel.

If this work is not completed before the B.C. route is open, Edmonton will not be the "gateway to the north" but the place where the north ends.

Apprentices For Manual Work Are Hard to Find

MILFORD, PENNSYLVANIA.

We were glad to get an invitation to spend a weekend in the country, on the banks of the Upper Delaware.

The Delaware, may I remind Canadians, is that river that George Washington crossed, standing up in the bow of a small boat. I never could quite figure out why the great general and nation-builder insisted on that stance. Maybe the artist just imagined it. But there are many great things unexplained about the great man.

If he actually did sleep in all the beds which now advertise the fact, then we may have a clue to the reason for his success. Maybe he just slept away.

PHILPOTT

and let the FBI in the front line army was its own war.

We went into a builders' supply house to get some gadgets which you can't get in Canada. In small town Pennsylvania we were glad to note that the workmen move at a leisurely pace. Everybody in New York is rushing like mad to get some place, or to get away from some place. But out in the country or small towns, they still move at the pace of an allowance to a boy in the small Ontario lakeside town where we always spent our summer holidays.

great age, she is as straight as a hickory tree.

Outside her little home, which she calls the mission, is a small, old-fashioned, and a small note board. This tells of the next meeting to be held at the lady's mission. Regardless of the fact that hardly anybody has even been known to go to her meetings—which are deep in the woods—the ancient and holy lady carries on.

This Miss Emma has a minor annoying side to her character. When she drops in on the neighbors for a meal, or to take shelter from the terrible weather, such as they had last winter, she always leaves money behind in payment. Her neighbors are so poor that they feel this tends to put the relationship on a semi-commercial basis.

But they can't change Miss Emma. I could not quite make out if she was a hard shell Bap-tist or a hard shell Presbyterian. But there was no argument about the hard shell.

Also met a friendly bricklayer who explained for me a mystery which has bothered us all across the continent.

Want White Collar Jobs

One reason for the outrageously high cost of building, he said, is that you just can't get enough youngsters to enter the building trades as apprentices. The pay is amazing right now. But each generation is more and more educated up to look down on manual work. More and more of the boys try to get into white collar, clean hand occupations. The result is that good bricklayers—as stone masons, and so on—are as scarce as hen's teeth.

I asked my friend to give me the real truth about the rumors I hear everywhere about deliberately restricted output.

"Is it true," I asked, "that a good bricklayer used to lay at least 1,200 bricks per day, and that now he is only 400 bricks per day?"

He explained to me that mere figures of so many bricks per day are deceptive. He said that on his big factory jobs years ago he himself laid over 4,000 bricks per day. But the walls were very high. And it was just a case of slapping them in any old way on the inside layers.

On a recent job, he said, his employer had made a check of the actual production. On one typical day, he said, he laid 1,040 bricks. But he assured me, 700 or 800 bricks per day was a real day's work.

He strongly intimated that there is now what we used to call "soldiering" on the job. That is, time wasting. He said that many young fellows do not actually lay more than 300 bricks per day; but if the boss complains, they simply move on to another job.

So far as I could probe, the real reason for this astonishing state of affairs is that the workman does not expect the good times to last. He is stretching it out.

But this is only one small part of a very scandalous condition. The so-called "gray market" is still deliberately holding back all sorts of materials needed for building.

FROM TODAY'S NEWS

As the Jews of Palestine move to re-establish the Hebrew state after a lapse of nearly 2,000 years, one frequently hears the query: Just what is the urge behind this Jewish crusade, this willingness to die for a national home in the Holy Land?

Palestine is small. It isn't blessed with an abundance of natural resources. It is largely undeveloped, and progress must be achieved by sacrifice and sweat of the brow.

Why then this insistence on a national home, and in Palestine? Why was it that when Hitler's huge camp for displaced persons at Belsen, Germany, in 1946, crowded with Jewish boys and girls from Poland told me that they didn't want to be sent back to Palestine, they chorused:

"We want to go to Palestine."

So provision of a refuge for the needy is a second reason for the desire to establish a national home. And then there seems to be to yet another—the pride of seeing a Jewish nation once more functioning in the land of the great kings, Saul and David and Solomon.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Calgary and Edmonton

Editor, Bulletin—In the recent Allan Cup finals at Calgary, Calgary fans cheered for Ottawa. Why? The reason is simple. Calgary fans are jealous of the Flyers' success.

Two years ago Edmonton fans gave the Stampeders a great ovation when they won the Allan Cup here in Edmonton. Calgary sports writers had predicted that should the Flyers win the Allan Cup on Calgary ice they would get an even greater ovation than the Stampeders received when they won in Edmonton. But poetic justice was not served. The fans actually booed the Flyers in long and related bluffs.

The reason for this anti-Edmonton support is plain as I mentioned above. Calgary chose this method of attack to get revenge on the Flyers for knocking them out of the playoffs in the Allan Cup playoffs. Well, Calgary, that's a childish and selfish way to try and achieve your objective.

The only logical and sporting method for you to try and defeat some fresh blood into your Stampeders' lineup. Clean house and bring in some of the best pension candidates that form most of your playing roster.

Editor, Bulletin—As has been said, the Stampeders are obviously correct — Edmonton, without a doubt, has the worst record in the league. I've seen town I've ever seen, and I've seen thousands. The back alleys of Edmonton are superior to the average Edmonton thoroughfare.

I'm a taxpayer in this hole of mess and dirt, but I sometimes wonder. It is obvious the taxpayer gets nothing in return for the regular salaries of a civic administration which apparently hasn't a clue as to what should be done to remedy this terrible situation. They actually seem to be proud of their collection of rat-holes and holes of impossible streets which they so fondly refer to as "Edmonton."

Woman Lovely Only After 30

A very large number of ladies have written this column to agree wholeheartedly that no woman can be truly beautiful until the age of 30. By a curious coincidence, nearly all these ladies happen to be over the age of 30.

Elsie G. writes, "Imagine the delight and surprise of the hundreds of females who read your column to discover a man who can look for the soul in a woman. For us dames who still have a homely look in spite of all the drug store aids to beauty you are an inspiration."

You say we are more interesting after 30. Well, a lot of women know this, but as a rule a man does not realize it until it's so late that it doesn't matter anyway.

Mr. A. A. Cronk, a sage of Sullivan Station, sends me some pictures of a woman of 40-odd years ago, one of which has this delightful caption: "Her face is like the Milky Way in the sky, a meeting of gentle lights without a name."

Cronk on the ladies: "I think it was Marie Corelli who wrote that beauty does not consist of a beauty of features, but which fascinates everyone by the innate goodness of their expression."

And L. P. says: "Give me a handsome young woman full of spirit and you can have the interest of the world. I think we are just a phoney trying to please our customers. I will bet you could find a young thing on the beaches just as much as any of us."

Here's The Last Word

Many letters about government-operated sweetshops. But I think that a subject more than well-covered in the regular letters of the paper. However, L. C. J. has a dissenting view which can close the discussion here.

"I recently heard the Rev.

Major George Turpin on this subject. His thoughts were to the effect that sweetshops were a waste of money. The idea which the church is constantly struggling to maintain.

"The spirit of the lotteries assumes that mankind has reached such a low level of ideals that it must be bribed with a dollar to a sick children's hospital or food for starving Europeans."

"It does open an avenue of thought which probably has never occurred to thousands of others. I think that if we had a rule that natured Joes who contribute because it is the thing that is being done by other well-wishing members of society. We would contribute anyway to a good cause to 'salvage' the wedding and funeral of mankind's higher nature."

Except, L. C. J., it doesn't seem to work out that way. Very few of the clergy are aware of today's reality.

Several bitter letters about my review of John Steinbeck's "Russian Journal."

LeRoy Murdoch asks: "You are the reason I am stopping my subscription to the Bulletin. I don't like democracy why don't you go to Russia? And you can take Elmore Philpott with you."

Sask. Irrigation Project Delayed

Cannot Be Commenced For Two Years Gardiner Says

By D'Arcy O'Donnell

OTTAWA, May 14.—(CP)—Work on a $66,000,000 irrigation project in Saskatchewan will not be started for at least two years, Agriculture Minister Gardiner told the Commons yesterday.

He said the junction of the South Saskatchewan river with Coteau creek, about 20 miles north of Saskatoon, has been chosen as the site of a 210-foot dam for the irrigation project. However, it would take engineers at least two years to determine whether it is feasible to build the dam at the chosen site.

The minister made the statements before the house adopted a bill authorizing the appointment of a director and an assistant director of Prairie Farm Rehabilitation.

On passage of the bill, attention was turned to the agricultural expenditure for the fiscal year 1948-49.

Earlier, the chamber voted $107,550.12 to cover government expenditures during the next month.

DIENFENBAKER DISSATISFIED

In the irrigation debate, John Diefenbaker (P-C Lake Centre) and Halsey Argue (C-CP Wood Mount) expressed dissatisfaction with the bill.

During the debate, the estimates, John Blackmore (SC, Lethbridge) urged better treatment of Canadian sugar-beet producers. He said the growers should be paid the same price as is paid for imported cane sugar.

The delay in starting work on the Saskatchewan river project, Mr. Diefenbaker said any excuse for delay in completing the South Saskatchewan dam would not be accepted. The sum of $66,000,000 seemed a large amount, but if spent it would pay dividends to all of Canada.

Irrigation would eliminate the need for payments made to western farmers under the Prairie Farm Assistance Act in years of crop failures. Sub-normal lands would be made productive and new hope given to tens of thousands who now did not know from one year to another when they would suffer crop failure.

Mr. Argue said the government should go ahead and spend money on irrigation, instead of merely examining the situation year after year.

During study of the estimates, John Blackmore (SC, Lethbridge) urged better treatment of Canadian sugar-beet producers. He said the growers should be paid the same price as is paid for imported cane sugar.

Border Town Business Continues to Expand

LLOYDMINSTER, May 14.—Following the announcement early this week of the building permit issued for the erection of a much needed hotel in Lloydminster, it was learned that two new business premises are to be built in the border town early this year.

One is a garage for H. McKay, who will handle the Plymouth automobile agency and the other for the Bodard sheet metal works. Both of these will be erected on 49 avenue. It is also understood that Cyril Noyes, who has secured the Austin agency for Lloydminster and district is contemplating erecting a home for the new line of cars.

Extensive alterations are now being made in the Lawson block opposite the post office in preparation for the opening of a modern bus depot. These are only a few of the developments due in the progressive oil town this year.

A familiar sight these days on the town streets is truck loads of casing being hauled to the storage, indicating that many hundreds of feet of drilling will be done in the field this summer. With road conditions improving the refineries are again working at capacity. Lloydminster will be sending a contingent of its local artists to the musical festival being held in North Battleford this week.

Fairview Holds Musical Festival

Friedenstal School Captures Award For Highest Aggregate

FAIRVIEW, May 14.—Excellent performances and close competition marked the recent musical festival held in Fairview. A grand concert in which most of the festivalers took part was presented the final night. W. P. Loggie, president Festival Association, acted as chairman.

Lloydminster Loses Town Engineer

LLOYDMINSTER, May 14.—Owing to failing health, A. E. Saunders, engineer of the town of Lloydminster, has resigned from his position and left for his home in Edmonton. This unforeseen event left the streets committee of the town with problem on its hands, due to the excessive amount of snow of the past winter.

The tearing up of many of the town roads last summer for water and sewer extensions did not help matters any, and it was a familiar sight to see either cars or trucks stuck on the town streets, some down to the axles in a fit that had sunk.

However, the council faced the situation with a will, and as a result the majority of the streets are now open to traffic, and in many cases heavy trucks hauling oil to the two refineries. Efforts are being made by the council to secure a successor to Mr. Saunders.

Society Urges Bird Protection

RED DEER, May 14.—The Alberta Natural History Society at Red Deer has issued an appeal to the citizens, parents especially, to help protect song birds and their nests. A number of reports have come to hand of nests being destroyed already this spring, principally by pre-school age children. The society points out that it is an offence, punishable by law, to kill song birds or molest their nests. Citizens in Red Deer city are asked to tell their cats at this time of year, in accordance with the call-bell bylaw of the city of Red Deer.

Red Deer Lake High This Year

FERNTOSH, May 14.—First time in many years, Red Deer Lake has overflowed the highway at its north end.

Eagles and swans, six of the former and four of the latter, are frequent visitors at the Lester Campbell farm.

Sunshine Club held its Mother's Day program on May 14. Fifteen ladies were present to enjoy a program of music, song and recitations by the club members. Mrs. George Roper was soloist. Master of ceremonies was Mrs. Roper. Mrs. Charles Neel thanked the club for the guests.

Work Commences On New Building

RED DEER, May 14.—Construction has started on a new building for A. J. Foster, Cuckshuff flow dealer, on the northeast corner of Gaetz Avenue and 32nd Street. It will be a two-story brick building and will cost about $15,000. Work is being ahead on a new pool hall being built by John Hall and Clarence Thoen on Gaetz Avenue North. It will be 20x120, two stories.

Killam Resident Dies In His Car

KILLAM, May 14.—Lloyd Harrison, for many years resident of Killam, died instantly when he suffered a sudden heart attack while out in his car recently. He is survived by his widow, one son James, of Killam, two daughters, Mrs. Louis Bergeson (lva) of Killam and Mrs. Jack Webster (Wilma) of Duffield, Alberta; in addition, three brothers and a sister in Kansas.

Normal Students Complete Training

VETERAN, May 14.—Miss Wilma and Miss Irene Armstrong have returned home after completing their training at Normal School in Calgary.

Final meeting for the season of the bridge club was held at the home of Mrs. J. H. Ballantine on Wednesday evening. Honors went to Mrs. E. E. Thullen and Mrs. J. McDonald, and consolation to Mrs. L. C. Kennedy.

HUMANE ACT SAVES LIVES OF 150 CATTLE

PONOKA, May 14.—Wide stretch of low-lying pasture, part of which is adjacent to the farm of John Whyte, 20 miles east of Ponoka, flooded recently. Cattle numbering 150 head were marooned on a small island without feed and threatened with starvation. Their plight became so serious during the week-end that many were unable to stand.

Monday, farmers of the district got in touch with H. Labrie, who took out his motor boat and with their help towed a raft loaded with grain to the island. Several loads of hay also were transported across the mile stretch of water by the same method. A strong wind made the operation still more difficult and hazardous and the small boat nearly capsized several times—but the lives of the cattle were saved.

DUTCH FARMERS REACH RED DEER

RED DEER, May 14.—Seven Dutch farmers, some with wives and families, a group of 23 in all, arrived here on Tuesday to work on farms in central Alberta. Farmers who are taking them are R. V. McLaughlin and R. M. Edgar, Red Deer; H. T. Ten Have, Morris Barnes and S. Sebenaga, Blackfalds; Dick Piper, Clive, and A. P. Good, Innisfail.

The party was met in Calgary by H. T. Ten Have, Blackfalds, district representative of the Immigration Committee of the Christian Reformed Church, which is working with the Dominion government in bringing the Dutch people to Canada.

Farm Operations Started at Bawlf

BAWLF, May 14.—Roads and fields are drying well and farmers were reported in the fields Monday for the first time.

Miss Edith Falked, a recent graduate of the Edmonton Normal school will take up teaching duties at a school near Holden. R. G. Thompson of the Alberta Temperance Union addressed the Sunday School on Sunday morning and showed a film at the Luther League program in the evening.

Millet Creek Back In Normal Bed

MILLET, May 14.—Water in the Millet Creek has settled into its proper bed and danger to the two bridges is over. The flood conditions of the creek are still bad and the rural mail courier has to transfer his mail across the coulee by boat.

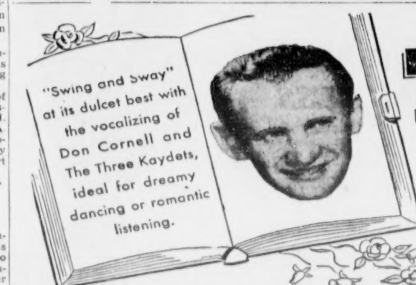

A Mother's Day service was held at the St. John's Anglican church on Sunday afternoon. Visitors and new residents were made welcome.

The regular Sunday evening service at the Millet United church took the form of a Mother's Day service. Special music included a solo by William Pyrch of the junior choir.

Big Four Baseball League Poised For Grand Opening Saturday Night

Saturday's the Night At Renfrew Stadium

Inter-Club Golf Matches Swing Into Action Sunday

Weather conditions forced postponement of tonight's opening game in president Henry Roche's Big Four Baseball League. With heavy rain falling Friday morning official cancellation of the contest between Calgary Buffaloes and Edmonton Eskimos was made at 11 a.m. Cubs left Edmonton this morning for Calgary where the game with Purty 99 will go ahead to night as scheduled.

John "Lefty" Ducey announced that all pre-game ceremonies billed for the official opening will take place Saturday night.

Mayor Harry Ainlay tosses out the first ball at 8:30 under the maras at Renfrew. After that the chief executive will leave the hurling chores to Ed. (Lefty) Belter and possibly Jack Stover, of the visitors.

Stover is a mountaineer who tolled considerably in Bufts in '47. Earlier, when Edmonton and Calgary had a little war concerning Bill Price, Eskimos would have settled on Stover as a suitable replacement for the brilliant second baseman.

But the Price-control war has soaked up all the newspaper ink is going to for the present. Price came to terms with the Ducey-Belter combine Friday and will lead off for Morris, besides covering a fair piece of ground outfield.

The Morris men are spliced with proven hitters. Dave Brockie follows Price in the batting order and will patrol centre field. Ralph Morgan, described by Calgary's John Carpenter as the most dangerous clutch hitter in the Big Four, is stationed at first.

McGILL TO CLEAN UP

It was practically mandatory to put Jack McGill in the cleanup slot. The rangy left fielder elicits a long ball when he finds the range.

Frank Gonzales, the "Frisco Kid" playing shortstop, follows McGill. Tom Kennedy, Gene Armstrong, Morris, and Belter complete the Esk order of the stick.

Kennedy, late of Vancouver Yanks, will work the hot corner, and Perani has a date to play right field. Perani arrived Thursday but Morris hasn't had a chance to see him work out.

For relief duty Eskimos have Don Simon and Jerry Seaman. Doug Darrah will be available if he comes to terms before game time. Ken Samis, a catcher by trade, may spell off Morris during the three-game joust with Buffaloes.

Harney wasn't sure Thursday who would dot the Cub roster against Purty. Indications are that Tony Chulla, second base, Ray Canepa, left field, Cliff Johnston, right field, Doug Stevenson, catcher, Colin Kilburn, third base, Andy Clavechok, shortstop, Al Superstein, centre field, Hank Tadeo, first base, and Forrest Hunter, pitcher, will complete the lineup.

LANE ON INJURED LIST

Tadeson replaces the injured Doug Lane at first sack. Tom Bartlett, an infielder from Ventura, California, arrives in Edmonton Friday night and will proceed to Calgary for Saturday's game.

Additional Cub pitching may be found in Dick Peters, a hurler from the coast.

Others accompanying Harney on the Calgary side are Nick Maskewich, Milt Trann and Al Purvis. Purvis may draw the starting assignment Saturday. Cool (I sure like Texas) Goldstick has earned the assignment as Cub trainer.

and fanned three.

SIX-HIT VICTORY

In the other two day games in the circuit, Brooklyn Dodgers held Cincinnati Reds their seventh-straight setback with Lefty Preacher Roe hurling a four-hitter and Bill Voelke his fourth straight for Boston Braves by blanking Chicago Cubs 2-0.

Pittsburgh Pirates snapped a four-game winning streak of Philadelphia Phillies in the only night game by defeating the

A's Can Win American Flag, Predicts Mack

PHILADELPHIA, May 14.—(AP)—"The Athletics will finish in the first division and are capable of winning American League pennant," Connie Mack said Thursday.

The general baseball veteran prepared his strategy for the important four game series with New York Yankees opening in Yankee Stadium Friday.

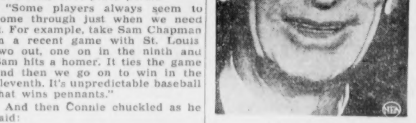

"If we can split even in New York with the tough Yankees there's nothing telling how far we'll go," said Mack.

The 85-year-old Philadelphia leader said "hustle and the ability to take advantage of every opportunity regardless of how small" is the reason for his club's present 10-game winning streak and lofty first place perch.

"Some players always seem to come through just when we need it. For example, take Sam Chapman by a base on balls with the bases loaded. For that we say thank you. I've got great confidence in this infield of mine," Mack said.

"It's the best infield I've ever had—yes, including the $100,000 infield of Stuffy McInnis, Eddie Collins, Jack Barry and Frank Baker, and my 1931 boys—Jimmy Foxe, Ed Bishop, Joe Boley and Jimmy Dykes."

His 1948 infield is the best fielding inner cordon in the American League. It has made only seven errors, and turned in 22 double or

HELPED ALONG

"Why even the opposing pitchers have been helping us along. We've had about six or seven runs forced by a base on balls with the bases loaded. For that we say thank you. I've got great confidence in this infield of mine," Mack said.

Tennis Meeting

Garneau Tennis Club will hold a special meeting Saturday night at 8 o'clock in the clubrooms. All new and prospective members are invited to attend.

The title marquis was originally applied to rulers of frontier lands or marshes.

GRAND JURY SETS EARL SANDE FREE

BROOKLYN, May 14.—(AP)—A federal grand jury Thursday refused to indict Earl Sande, horse trainer and one-time famous jockey, on a charge of illegal possession of narcotics which had resulted in Sande's suspension by the Jockey Club.

Sande was arraigned before U.S. commissioner Edward E. Faye May 3 after one of his horses showed evidence to investigators of having been drugged when it won a race at Jamaica.

Rider of three Kentucky Derby winners, the former jockey has been free without bail since waiving examination at the arraignment.

On May 4, the jockey club, which controls racing at all of the country's major tracks, suspended Sande for 60 days.

NHL Sports Writers 'Knifed in the Back'

TORONTO, May 14.—(CP)—Sports writers have suffered the unkindest cut of all.

They stand accused by one of their own number of having no more intelligence than the average hockey coach.

The stab in the back was administered by Andy (Toronto Star) Lytle as he looked over the balloting for the Hart and Lady Byng Trophies, compared it with the vote for the National Hockey League All-Star team, and shook his head sadly.

O'CONNOR ONLY "FAIR"

The two trophies went to New York Rangers' Buddy O'Connor—"just a fair country pack carrier," says Andy—as a result of a poll among writers in NHL cities. The All-Star team was picked by the league's coaches. It isn't easy to say, Andy concludes, whether the writers out-zanned the coaches in voting.

The coaches, of course, committed social suicide in Toronto circles by almost ignoring the champion Toronto Maple Leafs in their All-Star selection, with Turk Broda the only Leaf making the grade. But Andy is no kinder in summing up the writers' job in picking the trophy winners.

In the Hart race, Milt Schmidt, "one of the greatest centre players in the league," got three votes to O'Connor's 36. Syl Apps and Ted Kennedy rated seven votes apiece along with Detroit's Ted Lindsay. Gabe Stewart picked up three votes and Doug Bentley a single.

In the Lady Byng pool, Doug Bentley collected only two votes and Gus Indurain one.

Andy's most crushing retort will probably bar him from sports writers' clamorings and coaches' conferences for life.

"Current methods of selection leave both sets of experts wide open for liquidation."

SALMAGUNDI WASHED OUT OF PREAKNESS

BALTIMORE, May 14.—(AP)—Salmagundi was washed out of the Preakness Thursday and that was news, but a rain which turned Pimlico race track into crab soup and thickness also gave the railbirds something else to think about besides Citation.

The "something" is howard, Sylvester W. Labrot's Maryland-bred son of the imported Bahram. Slop is just his dish.

"Salmagundi will definitely not be shipped to the Preakness because of track conditions," was the latest communique issued on the William G. Heist call by J. E. Lober, general manager of the Hells Farm. Salmagundi, winner of the Santa Anita Derby, was expected here Thursday from Garden State Park.

SKIMPY TRACK

Track conditions or not, the presence of Citation has scared out all but three others now, providing a skimpy field for this 1 3/16 miles classic.

As for Salmagundi, the word on him was that his mud-running on the west coast left much to be desired.

Boward's trainer, young Jimmy Rowan, assures that his rangy colt can run on any kind of a track, and is ready for Citation.

Citation, Calumet Farm's great triple crown horse, has been at Pimlico since May 10. He won the Kentucky Derby May 1. Others here are King Ranch's better self and C. Whinery's Vulcan's Forge. Four starters would make this the smallest Preakness field since 1943 when Count Fleet defeated three others.

Inter-Club Golf Matches Swing Into Action Sunday

A few cracks from "winter-set" joints will probably be heard at the first tees, but lack of practice has not dampened the enthusiasm in inter-club golf matches, which get underway at the Country Club, Mayfair, Highlands and Municipal courses Sunday morning.

Highlands, led by Henry and Burns Martell, won the McMillan Trophy last year in a breeze, and the same two driver and mashie-bulb experts are listed at the top of the "A" team this season. The club has practically the same roster and will probably be the team to beat again.

Few changes have been made on the Country Club lineup, with Emerson Mack, 1945 Calgary champion, being the strongest acquisition. By strange coincidence Mack is teamed with Johnny MacDonald against Johnny Aitken, another former Calgary amateur champion, and Bill Hear. It will be just like old times for the former champs of the Foot-hills City.

The Martells and Co. will have their hands full over at Municipal where they bump into Buddy Loftus and Danny Podersky. Buddy wintered at Vancouver and is reported to be hitting the ball well since he came back. Danny Podersky is a consistent player and he and Loftus should give the Highlands' Aces quite a battle for the points.

Don't Forget the BALL GAME Tonight at 8:30 -- RENFREW PARK

Moner on Sport

By STAN MOHER, Editor
If the Rains Don't Come

The weatherman was acting up again Thursday night to throw a damper on plans to spring the Big Four Baseball League from the gate with Friday openers at Edmonton and Calgary.

John Ducey took a look at the lowering skies over Renfrew Park and admitted that it didn't look too promising.

As a matter of fact that gent who is no more than half a man alongside San Francisco's famed Frank (Lefty) O'Doul (O'Doul wears a complete green suit, hence his moniker of 'The Man in the Green Suit,' while the green in Ducey's wardrobe is confined to a single vivid emerald jacket) would have been just as happy had the openers been put back for a week.

He realizes that the training period has been all too brief. The squads in Henry Roche's four-team Loop haven't had more than half a dozen good workouts. Representations made to the Calgary end of the Circuit that the lifelifters be deferred for a time were given the big brush-off. Particularly did 'Sad Sam' Timmins scoff at the idea.

What's This About Salary Limit?

Timmins, of course, has to do with the administration of Buffalo Stadium as well as the Buffalo ball club. And to hear Ducey tell it 'Sad Sam' isn't half so interested in the calibre of baseball that will be played for a time as he is in "selling hot dogs and pop."

In Ducey's book this is strictly a short-sighted point of view. However a schedule is a schedule and the games will go Friday night, weather permitting.

The Ducey-Timmins rhubarb goes on apace. Both are explosive individuals. When they get to popping off the sky is the limit. Both are agreed that there's no use stopping at a couple of dozen words on any given matter when several thousand will do just as well.

'Sad Sam' goes confidential every now and then when he talks about Ducey. He lowers his voice to a whisper. Then he'll say, "That Ducey knows his baseball alright. But you've got to keep him in check. He wants to spend too much money... won't stay within the salary limit."

To which Ducey would reply—as he has on a number of occasions, "They tell me Timmins was a fine goalkeeper. But this is baseball and if it's the last thing I do I'll take the semi-pro out of him!"

Who Beats Purity Takes It All

However the Big Four Loop won't be won or lost on the basis of the Ducey-Timmins side-show. The moves made by the rival managers, to say nothing of what their ball tossers do under fire, will largely determine where the pennant flies in late August.

On the go in sponsor Harold Cundall's champion Purity 90 shape up like they'll be tough to knock off the Big Four peak. The Gilman have it on the mound where 'Long Dawn' Carpenter, 'Tom' Kane and Joe Richardson are set to cast a bright light into the Plague on rival hitters.

Of course there's many a slip between the time the first ball is thrown out and the ringing down of the curtain. Purity will still have to make it stick at Renfrew Park and Buffalo Stadium.

At the time the team strength in the story goes that Laurel Harney, slated to manage Edmonton Motors Cubs, is keen to add some hitting power. A powder puff attack kept Cubs mired a season ago. He doesn't want it to happen again.

Harney, as a matter of fact, will trade in that box of aspirins anytime in exchange for a pair of .300 stickers.

'Gift Packages' Toss Flyer Club for Loss

Members of Edmonton's Allan Cup champion Flyers made off with the loot but you can bet a nickle or two it will be their wives or girl friends who get the big bang out of it all.

Which, of course, is a roundabout way of getting down to brass tacks about the fine party, complete with prizes, which Ed Clarke staged for the Flyers Thursday night.

Clarke, a former president of the Edmonton Exhibition Association, was making good on an earlier promise to Flyers that "if you win the Allan Cup I'll put on a party for you."

Close to 125 of the automotive dealer's friends and business associates gathered in his place of business at 104 Ave. and 107 St. A tasty Dutch lunch was laid out and the usual frills to go with it.

Forming the brass section were Mayor Harry D. Ainlay, Chief Constable Reg. Gordon, McDonald, chairman of the Flyer hockey committee and others.

At the psychological moment there was an "unveiling" as Mayor Ainlay drew a covering from a mysterious looking pile on a table in one corner.

FANCY THIS!

Underneath were 30 chests of money—each for each of the Flyers. Each chest was inscribed with the player's name and the fact that he was a member of "Edmonton Flyers, Allan Cup champion, 1948." The mayor made the presentations.

Frank Currie, by way of reply, thanked Clarke in the name of the team. For his part the big man of the affair said he hoped Flyers would repeat next season.

The night went on with singing and plenty of action around the "microphone," but in all it was just another manifestation of the high regard in which Flyers are held by their fellow citizens.

Big Moments in Sport 25 Years Ago

From The Bulletin Sports Files

Jack Starkey was the big guy in the Edmonton Gun Club's weekly tournament. Starkey took high honors in the 25-bird singles, while Topay Turvey was tops in the doubles with a score of 23.

Other "hot shots" included Dr. Williamson 19, A. H. Krant 19, Hougan 21, D. Driscoll 19, and E. Morris 20.

Efforts are being made to obtain a suitable opponent for Jackie Newman, 125-pound Edmonton fighter. If an opponent can be obtained it is likely that bout will be held at the Temple theatre. Newman has a string of 33 victories to his credit.

THIS MAY BE the way the three fastest humans will line up when they compete in the sprints in the Olympic Games in London this summer. Meeting in Los Angeles for the first time are, left to right, Lloyd LaBench of Panama, who tied the 100-yard world record of 9.4; John Treloar of Australia, clocked at 9.5, and Southern California's Mel Patton, who has equalled the record four times.

Edmonton's Football Sage Just Can't "Shake" Sport

By Bert Greer

Once a dyed-in-the-wool soccer man, always a dyed-in-the-wool soccer man!

At least that seems to be the situation in Tom Green's case. Green has been associated with the sport for 54 years, 30 with the Edmonton and District Football Association. During that time he has been president of the organization 15 seasons.

This season Tom decided to cash in his presidency chips. He's 69 years of age and believes it about time someone else assumed the responsibility.

He informed the annual meeting to that effect, but guess who is president of the EDFA this season?

That's right—Tom Green.

The meeting left the presidency open and then sent a delegation to Green's residence. They talked him into once again assuming the top executive office.

GOOD SEASON AHEAD

Green was a spectator as the North Side Legion Club lined up on the east diamond at Clarke Stadium Thursday night. As he watched Martin Collingwood's last shuttle the ball back and forth, he ventured the remark: "You know, I believe soccer is going to enjoy a better season than last—and last year this team reached the Western Canada semi-finals."

While the North Siders were working the winter stiffness out of their limbs, another band of athletes was doing the same thing. Nestled under a grassy, cold-looking bank, the Cloverdale hopefuls in the soccer league were busy bombarding the upstarts.

They were utilizing the Hennes school grounds and were operating under the critical eye of Manager Bert Starling.

Starling has had considerable success as manager of both hockey and football teams. He was the guiding hand in Clarke's last march in the Intermediate B Hockey League and led the Cloverdale team to runner-up spot in the soccer league and to victory in the Dragons Cup. It was Cloverdale's first venture into senior soccer, too.

Starling is looking to even better things this season. On defence he has Jack Wards, whom he believes is one of the best fullbacks in the league, and the majority of last year's players are back with the team.

He said Kenny Watson, junior hockey-soccer star, is trying to obtain his release from the Maple Leaf juniors, and if successful will line up with his team. Pete Hopper, a fullback, is a probable starter, along with Eric Krough.

NEEDS TWO MEN

Cloverdale will play Oliver St. Pats in an exhibition game at Bennett school grounds Sunday at 3 p.m.

The club will not officially open until June 1, but shoots have been arranged for Tuesday and Friday nights, so the boys can get in a little practice before gunning for prizes.

Strictly Personal

By Jim Algeo

The opening of the South Side Football League (intermediate men) scheduled for Sunday afternoon on the South Side Athletic grounds will see Honorary Mayor Gordie Watt, captain of the Allan Cup winning Edmonton Flyers, performing his first "official duty."

Watt, who swings a mighty fast ball during the off-hockey season with the City Intermediate Firemen, will for in the first ball to officially send the South Siders on their way.

Watt's "partner in crime" will be Frank Cowles, president of the GORDIE WATT Business Men's Club.

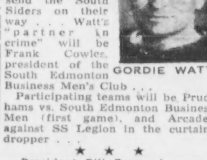

Participating teams will be Prudhams, South Edmonton Business Men (first game), and Aces and Aces against SS Legion in the curtain-dropper.

President Bill Runge is negotiating for another battery... Could it be that "Honorary Chief Constable" Harvey (Pug) Young will be doing half the honors?

The executive of Runge's loop is planning for a top-notch season of ballhawking this year. Their plan is to put the circuit into competition with Kingsway.

All players of the six-league wheel have been uniformed, a new scoreboard has been erected, a grass infield blomed, and officials are contemplating a new section of bleachers.

In case of any "rough stuff" all

Gun Club Opens Season Sunday

Stillness that has prevailed at the Edmonton Gun Club range since the snow fell last winter, will be broken Sunday afternoon.

From 2 to 3 p.m. experts at skeet and traps will blaze away at the "pigeons" in the opening shoot of the season, according to Fergus Owen.

The club will not officially open until June 1, but shoots have been arranged for Tuesday and Friday nights, so the boys can get in a little practice before gunning for prizes.

Elevens Selected For Football's Charity Contest

RAF Takes On League Stars At Clarke Stadium May 22

Soccer returns to Clarke Stadium May 22. On that date Honorary Mayor Gordie Watt will kick the first ball in a charity match between RAF and an all-star eleven selected from other teams in L.C. city.

Thursday night the Edmonton Soccer Council met to select the all-stars. Finally the following array of talent was selected:

Goal, Bob Shaw; right full-back, George Dempster; left full-back, Steve Olander; right half, J. Magee; centre half, Dave Gillings; left half, Jimmy Anderson; outside right, Jack Wilce; inside right, Bob Graham; centre, Bill Thomas; inside left, Charlie Styles; outside left, Doug Anderson.

Reserve strength is found in A. Peters and Bill Green. D. C. Howe of Oliver St. Pats manages the all-star brigade, and J. Mitchell will handle training chores.

REILLY REFEREE

Jack Reilly of the Recreation Commission is tabbed to referee the match. A. Peters and Albert Olander will be timekeepers.

Members of the council present at Friday's meeting included Hugh Baker, recently elected president of the Edmonton Football Association; Tom Green, George Wilce, Earl Samis, Albert Orchin, Bill McWhinnie, Dr. Fuchs, Angus R. The council meets Monday at 8:00 p.m. in the Recreation Building.

Name Juvenile Baseball Heads

Bill Bull and Dalton Schute have themselves a job.

At a joint meeting of the junior and juvenile baseball leagues Friday night the boys were appointed to direct the kids under 18 under the supervision of the junior body.

Bull was connected with the Arrows senior baseball club some five years ago, while Schute serves as vice-president of the junior league.

Action was quiet on the junior front. A schedule will be released early next week by Earl Samis, with starting date set for Clarke Stadium May 23.

Canadians, Maple Leafs, CNR, South Side, and EAC comprise the junior wheel this season.

SIX TEAM LOOP?

Bull and Schute control Maple Leafs, Calder, Westmont, North Edmonton, and South Side in the juvenile league. Nine from Cloverdale is considering entering the loop.

The juveniles get away shortly after the May 24 holiday.

Delegates present at the meeting included Emery Callahan, Lou Hiett, Earl Samis, Slim Powell, Benny Kingspoo, J. Desjardins, and Bill Thomas.

WHITEMARSH, Pa., May 14.—(AP)—The weatherman turned in the only score Thursday at Whitemarsh Valley Country Club—a shutout victory over the first round of the $15,000 fifth annual Philadelphia Inquirer golf tournament. An overnight deluge that swelled Wissack Creek out of its banks forced a one-day postponement of the opening round.

PULL-A-WHEEL and BE SURE!

THIS IS IT, as far as left to right, John Ducey, Henry Roche, Big Four Baseball League president, and John Beatty, are concerned. For Saturday, weather permitting, ball-chasers of all four teams will crack the wrapper of the 1948 schedule. Calgary Buffs will meet Eskas at Renfrew, while Cubs travel south to Purity 99's.

Renfrew Baseball Park Boasts Colorful History

Renfrew Park was constructed and opened for play in 1933. At that time Henry Roche was president of the City Senior League. Closely associated with him in the building of the Park were Clarence Campbell, presently the head of the National Hockey League, and Frank Hughes.

Decision to move to Renfrew from old Diamond Park was made at the conclusion of the 1932 season.

That first season in the new park served to introduce the late Pete McCready to local diamond fans. The hard-hitting outfielder had come from Vancouver to join Norman Dodge's Army and Navy Cubs.

From the start he was a sensation. In his second time at bat in league competition McCready, a right-handed hitter, belted one far over the right wall. In all he wallowed 17 home runs before the curtain came down in 1933.

McCready, along with such players as Bud Spiesman, 'Hop' Wilkie, Glen Wikie, Ed McHugh, Phil Maher and many more, made the league, provincial and western Canada titles.

MANY FINE BALLTOSERS
Over the years many fine ball tossers have done their stuff in the park below the hill. On two occasions touring major league all-star teams have made an appearance.

Included in the big league squads were such topnotchers as 'Doc' Cramer, Al Zarilla, presently a hitting sensation in American League circles, Denny Galehouse, Jesse Flores, Alie Reynolds, Bob Swift and many others.

COMMERCIAL GIRLS SOFTBALL LOOP PROPOSED

Jack Reilly has called an organization meeting of a proposed Commercial Girls' Softball League for the Recreation Building on May 17 at 5:30 p.m.

Five teams—Woodwards, Eaton's, Hudson's Bay, Woolworths and Civics—are tentatively slated to line up in the loop.

League look forward to a fine season in 1948. In the second year of operation there's every chance that the four-team inter-city circuit will again dish up the pleasing brand of ball that was the case a year ago.

Alex Uffleman Held Big Bat in Big Four

Calgary Buff Led Way With .305 Average

Alex Uffleman led the Big Four batting parade in 1947 with a .305 average. To date the colorful ex-manager of Calgary Buffaloes hasn't returned to Mr. Henry Roche's league, and that leaves the Derry Derrington open to other batsmen.

Uffleman also clouted seven home runs to finish in a dead heat with Purity 99's Walt Gully for round trip honors. Heely Alex drove in 35 runs, five less than the league's Roy Sheppard, also of Buffs.

Walt Gully, Purity's handy man with the willow, led the league in triples. He swatted for five three-baggers during the campaign.

The ladies are looking for a large membership and an active season.

DEATH APPOINTMENT KEPT IN THE DUGOUT

SOMERVILLE, Mass., May 14.—(AP)—Three years ago Robert W. Osgood was told he had less than three years to live and to give up playing his favorite game—baseball.

However, Bob didn't think he'd live anyway and wanted to continue playing ball.

After graduating from school last year, he signed with Chicago Cubs of the National League and was assigned to a Fayetteville, N.C., club.

This year he was promoted to the Chicago farm in the Ohio-Indiana league, the Marion, O., Cubs.

Wednesday night he was sitting on the bench during a rainstorm which forced postponement of a game at Richmond, Ind.

He suddenly slumped over. An hour later the 19-year-old catcher was pronounced dead of a heart attack.

City Crime Shows Slight Decrease

Arrests Drop Only Two During Month of April

A negligible decrease in crime is shown in Edmonton police reports for the month of April.

Total arrests for April were 255 as compared with 253 for March.

People arrested for vagrancy showed a substantial increase of 2, March arrests for vagrancy being 19 as compared to 43 for April.

Thefts decreased slightly from 17 in March to 13 in April.

Liquor offences formed the bulk of arrests with 130 in April as compared with 154 in March.

The traffic squad reported 125 accidents for April, with 12 injuries and no fatalities.

There were 21 convictions on dangerous driving charges.

The department reported 88 persons found intoxicated during April, 22 fines assessed, 10 lost children returned, and a grand total of 383 calls responded to.

For April 106 offenders were found in police courts, ten less than the 116 fined in March.

April's 255 total arrests show a breakdown of 213 men and 12 women arrested.

Most prevalent offence among women was vagrancy with 19 arrests.

Drunkness ran second with 13 arrests.

A total of 115 men were arrested in April for liquor offences alone.

NUMBER CHANGE IN POLICE RANKS IS CONFUSING

The reallocation of numbers to city police has been causing some confusion for the constables.

Several of them stated they continue to put their old numbers on parking tickets.

Consequently when a motorist comes in to the station to argue about a traffic ticket the wrong policeman is leaving from answer the questions.

Constable Bernie Nicholson, whose old number was 22, says he has continually had to stroke the two-out and at the end put a one in front to get his new number 13. Just habit for so many years he says.

Constable Ross Campbell came up with a novel one.

His new number is eight, his old one 26.

"I make a mistake on one of my tax 1 I guess the only thing I can do is put a plus sign between the two and six and then write in 'equals 8'."

The new numbers have been re-allotted in accordance with seniority in the uniform department.

Number one badge is worn by switchboard operator, Constable Walter Crawford.

Deliberate Arson

HALIFAX, May 14. (CP)—C. S. Wright, Nova Scotia fire marshal, yesterday announced "a deliberate act of arson" was responsible for a $24,000 fire in the large building in downtown Sydney last Jan. 2.

The fire destroyed the building, which was a warehouse for the Maritime Electric Co. Ltd.

Railway Hotel Help Await Strike Action

Whether Macdonald hotel employees will join in a nationwide tie-up of Canadian railways and railway hotels has not yet been decided.

Earlier this week, A. H. Mosher, president of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees said he expected Canadian railways and railway hotels to be strikebound in 14 days.

Unless the government intervenes quickly in the wage dispute between the rail management and employees, he said, the union will pull no punches in carrying out a threatened strike.

Majority of employees at the Macdonald hotel, a CNR hotel, are members of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees Union and Joe Charrington, business agent for the union stated Wednesday word is Recommendations of the board were rejected by the railway. Whatever action is taken, Mr. Charrington said, it will undoubtedly be uniform among all the unions involved, which includes the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and the Brotherhood of Railway and Air Transport.

Young Pupils Are Praised For Choral Presentation

An unusually high mark of 180 for two selections was given to St. Andrews School at the Edmonton district musical festival Wednesday for "the best choral speaking I have ever heard." Adjudicator Mrs. Leona Patterson offered her heartiest congratulations to the conductor, Mary J. Strutton.

Only entrant in the grade two class, St. Andrews choral was praised for fine unity and excellent speech.

Highest mark yet awarded in this division was given to Ruth Ziekie whose interpretation of F. G. Scott's Canada was "very lovely," Mrs. Patterson said. It was the first time in the festival that she felt adult speaking was getting somewhere.

Hylda Stewart with 87 marks took first place in the open dramatic recitation class. Her excellent voice quality and good feeling for her Shakespearean selection was praised by Mrs. Patterson.

More thought and interpretation was necessary in Ruth Ziekie's performance in this class, according to the adjudicator. She was given 80 marks.

THIRD MAJOR AWARD

Ruth Ziekie won her third major award with 88 and 90 marks in the open recitation class. Mrs. Patterson said Miss Ziekie's pace and rhythm and considered two times of great excellence in her speaking.

In second place was Hylda Stewart with 84 and 83 marks.

Fine tots from Edmonton College Kindergarten were enjoyed in their choral speaking by audience and adjudicator alike. Mrs. Patterson, awarding them 90 and 88 marks, was amazed by the good performance of such small children. She thought their performance was "perfectly delightful" and said that they "obviously enjoyed their work." The chorus, conducted by Mrs. M. Peters, was the only entrant in the pre-school class.

Sister M. Winfred, conductor of Sacred Heart grade one chorus, showed real imagination in the opinion of the adjudicator. The chorus was awarded 86 marks and was praised for its good unity, tone and attention to the conductor.

AWARDED FIRST PLACE

The beautiful presentation and excellent performance were rewarded in the grade four choral speaking class for St. Andrews School. Conducted by M. Connolly, the chorus was awarded 86 and 87 marks. Woodbridge High School, was in second place with 80 marks for open recitation.

In the Canadian poetry class under 12 years, Joyce Danforth, was first with 82 marks and Layvonne Baker second with 80.

Joyce Danforth with 83 marks was first in the grade ten class and Joyce Danforth second with 82.

In the only entrant in the poetry class under 17 years, Lois B. Jackson was awarded 79 marks.

OILY TASTE IN CITY WATER GONE FOR YEAR

That oily taste in the city's water supply appears over for this year.

Dr. G. M. Little, in a report to the Board of Health, states that the runoff of oil-saturated snow appears to be at all ends.

He adds that with the completion this spring of the new section of the water treatment plant, this oil taste and other disagreeable factors are unlikely to recur.

He said the tremendous runoff of surface waters in April created extraordinary difficulties in treatment of the city's water supply.

The considerable amount of musky waters, plus all which has been very marked on the river at times, have combined to make taste and color in the water which has been impossible to entirely remove.

Communicable disease was moderate in occurrence during April, statistics showed some increase in the number of cases, but no extensive epidemic of this disease is expected this year.

Industrial Board Meeting Continues

Annual meeting of Industrial Board Inspectors opened its fourth day on Thursday.

Entire inspection staff of the board and Clayton Adams, board chairman are attending the sessions.

It was expected the conference would end Wednesday, but consideration of new labor legislation and reports of past year's activities have necessitated a continuation of the meetings.

Named Supervisor Home Economics

Appointment of Miss Bernice MacFarlane of Medicine Hat to be supervisor of home economics in the Alberta department of education was announced today by Dr. W. H. Swift, deputy minister of the Alberta department.

She succeeds Miss J. Hindman who has been transferred to the staff of the Calgary Institute of Technology and Art.

Big Air Liners Use City Base

Edmonton's Municipal Airport has temporarily been called on to handle flights of huge TWA four-engine North Star passenger planes from Alberta to Vancouver.

North Star flights from Alberta to Vancouver normally originate in Calgary, but unavailability of the Calgary and Lethbridge landing fields necessitated starting the flight from Edmonton, according to J. M. Jackson, district traffic manager in Edmonton.

The flights however are still following the mainline route from the west coast to the east coast.

TCA service from Edmonton to Calgary and Lethbridge is being maintained with hourly flights, though on slightly revised schedule.

Eastbound traffic from Edmonton is continuing without any change in service.

Unavailability of the Calgary and Lethbridge fields is believed due to extreme moisture conditions.

Grain Trade Men See Surplus Crop

Leading Exporters Express Opinion Its Buyers Market

By Sydney Gampell

LONDON, May 14.—(Reuters)—Leading exporters in the British grain trade yesterday gave the considered opinion that at present prices existing wheat supplies exceed demand.

On the basis of crops already safely harvested they saw many signs that the world wheat market is changing from a sellers' market to a buyers' market and were canvassing such ideas as an increase in the German bread ration, barring last-minute disasters to the crops now growing. They forecast an end to bread scarcities and rationing and a dismantling of international wheat controls within the next few weeks.

The statement that at present prices wheat is already in surplus world supply was regarded as self-evident. After exporting 36 per cent more wheat than last season the main exporting countries will still be left with nearly twice as much wheat in stock. Statistics show that they will have exported 7,000,000 tons more than last season but this will leave them with a carrover of 11,000,000 tons against 6,000,000 at the end of last season.

These large stocks will be available at the beginning of next season, starting July 1, and their effect will be enhanced if present good crop prospects are realized in France. Experts have confidently predicted a French crop of more than 8,000,000 tons—an astonishing improvement on last year's crop, which was only 3,200,000 tons.

(At Ottawa, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported that Canadian farmers plan to seed about 500,000 fewer acres of wheat during 1948 than in 1947.

(A trade department official said there is no indication Canadian farmers will have difficulty disposing of the 1948 crop and confirmed that the price of No. 1 Northern wheat will go up to $2.00 a bushel from the present $1.55 in August.)

Keen Contest Mark City Music Festival

By Frances Gaudes

Presentation of four trophies highlighted events Thursday evening at the Edmonton district musical festival. Competition was keen in two classes, open piano and open vocal solo, with only one mark separating the first two in each case.

Adjudicator Max Pirani commented on the excellent piano and vocal work, considering it a "burgeoning evening" for the audience and wondered why McDougall Church wasn't packed.

POLICE TEST NEW TESTER

Motorists, don't be alarmed if you see a policeman coming toward you with something that looks like a miniature buzz bomb.

It is only a new gadget being used by the traffic department here to check vehicle lights.

A large opening on one end of the tester is placed over the car light.

A needle shows the amount of candle power the light is giving out.

It also registers the height at which the lights are placed. The name for it is a Robot Light Tester.

Thursday night police began checking cars with their new-fangled machine.

The Mason and Rich trophy for open piano class was awarded to Geraldine Mason and the McGibbon trophy for open vocal solo to Sherrill Lanyon.

The adjudicator praised Miss Mason's "an imaginative performance which held my attention on every moment." He thought she had a lot of humor in her Beethoven Sonata movement but that it could have been improved by a steady basic pulse. Her presentation awarded 88 and 89 marks was colorful and interesting, he said.

A close second in this event was Wesanne Anderson with 86 and 80 marks. The mark of 90 was given for her colorful performance of Rachmaninoff's Prelude in E-flat.

To Sherrill Lanyon went the McGibbon trophy and 89 and 86 marks for her selections.

Ruth Gullerue was in second place with 87 marks for each of her pieces.

Expressive singing and shapely phrasing won Sadie McDonald the CPNRP trophy in the contra alto class. She was given 85 and 86 marks.

The Day trophy was awarded to C. V. J. Schroeder with 84 and 82 marks in the men's open vocal class.

Ernestine Handlett, "a very good pianist with a commendable sense of style," in Mr. Pirani's opinion was the only entrant in the piano class for student teachers 25 and under. She was given 87 marks for each of her two selections.

In the open leader classes, Elsie Wright and Wilma Van Deelen teamed together to win praise from Mr. Pirani as a good ensemble.

A very good class of pianists was also given 88 marks by the adjudicator Thursday afternoon. Their marks were all high and Lorraine Bayard with 88 and 87 was first, with Margaret Ruenner a close second with 85 and 88 marks.

Lillian Kester, who played "ex tremely well," was given 88 marks and first place in the intermediate bass class.

Lorraine Peplin, only entrant in the bass class for students 13 and under, received 79 marks.

Yellowhead Route Best

Yellowhead Pass offers the most feasible route for a Trans-Canada highway. Reg. Easton told members of the Lions Club at their meeting in the Macdonald hotel, Thursday.

The Yellowhead Pass route, he said, reached a maximum elevation of 3,717 feet, 700 feet less than the Crow's Nest Pass route and 1,000 feet less than the Kicking Horse Pass route.

The route for the most part, Mr. Easton said, follows the valley through the mountains and does not require the building of a road over or high on the side of mountains.

Reporting on a jeep trip over the route last summer, he said it offered scenic beauty surpassing that of any of the popular parks.

He urged members to do everything possible to promote the adoption of the route for a Trans-Canada Highway.

Completion of the highway would cut Edmonton only 900 miles from Vancouver.

MODEL T RACES
Final plans for the Lions Club Model T race meet were announced Thursday.

Dates for the District 37 Lions Club convention have been advanced one day to June 23, 24 and 25.

Wellcome Home
For Rotarian
Given By Club

Rotarian Lyle Watson was welcomed by members of the Edmonton Rotary Club Thursday.

Following his return from a two-month trip to the British Isles, Mr. Watson was given a "wellcome home" by the club.

The club witnessed the 54th showing of the motion pictures of the 1947 World Series baseball games by Edmonton promoters John Dacey and Jack Healy.

John Dacey announced that the 1948 season would get underway Friday night at 8:30 under flood lights.

Rotarian Dave Little was chairman for the day.

THE PARKS DEPARTMENT will take care of spraying large ponds and sloughs.

"Even if we do a good job on all ponds and puddles the mosquitoes are going to be just terrible in Edmonton this summer," Mr. Myler predicted.

The federation passed a resolution aimed at swinging league members into action against the dead summer pest.

TREE DISTRIBUTION
The leagues were also informed by Mr. Myler that the city will plant elm and ash trees available for free distribution to community leagues wishing to plant trees this spring.

Advice and assistance in tree planting and community beautification will also be given by the parks department the delegates were informed.

J. McLean, representing the Edmonton Junior Chamber of Commerce, said the chamber is ready to assist community leagues with paint for community league buildings. This is in connection with the annual beautification campaign of junior chambers across Canada.

As an incentive to paint up leagues will obtain a subsidy from the junior chamber on all paint purchased.

The junior chamber also has a special prize of $200 for the league having the most beautiful grounds and buildings.

Greater support for the ticket selling campaign in connection with the Calgary Stampede Queen contest was urged.

This province-wide contest is being sponsored by the Alberta Commercial Travellers and handled in Edmonton by the Federation of Community Leagues.

Miss Joan Farley has been chosen as Miss Edmonton.

Next meeting of the federation will be held on the second Thursday in September.

President Charles Simmonds was in the chair.

Court Grants New Hearing

A new preliminary hearing has been authorized for James G. Alexander of Mirror Landing who was sentenced to 18 months in jail recently to nine months in jail.

Officials of the attorney-general's department said Thursday the authorities had been granted the right to proceed with a new trial.

RCMP officers said no date had been set for the new proceeding but that Magistrate F. A. Olson of Athabasca was in charge.

Irregularities in the first hearing were noted by W. J. Shortford, crown prosecutor, who told the court of appeal recently of "very" irregularities in the first hearing.

The appeal court quashed the conviction and ordered a new trial of the accused.

"MAD ARTIST" FEATURES BALL

A casual "mad artist" was highlighted the Artists and Models Ball here tonight.

The "Ball" is being staged by the Edmonton Commercial Artists' Association in the Brogue.

According to club president Don Sandilands the mad artist hopes to capture a live model.

It is not known whether the will occur at the "Ball".

Other attractions of the ball will be roller skating sessions, anti-aircraft sections and floor show features.

Tickets are available at Mike's newsstand.

First Four Months Permits Ahead 1947

Edmonton's home building program is steadily building up to an all-time record. During the period May 1 to 11 a total of 196 permits were issued for new homes with a permit value of $584,800.

For the four months period Jan. 1 to April 30 the city architect's department issued 352 permits for dwellings with a value of $1,980,000. This gives a total for this year of $2,584,800 and 548 permits.

In 1947 for the free months period ended May 31 there were 170 permits issued the value of which was $527,900.

At least 150 home building permits will be issued during the balance of May to place this phase of the city's construction program well ahead of last year.

In addition there are two Dominion government housing projects underway that will add 300 homes to the total.

They are the 250 homes for veterans to be erected by War Time Housing Ltd., and 50 by the department of national defence.

Contracts for these projects will be awarded within the next few weeks.

Also pending are a number of interested housing plan contracts which are now in process of negotiation.

CNR Appoints
Division Engineer

Appointment of D. B. McKillop as division engineer for the "Edmonton Division" of Canadian National Railways was announced today.

Mr. McKillop, who succeeds the late M. Price, will arrive in the city this morning from Regina.

He has been division engineer at Regina for about a year and one half.

Committee Study
Commission Pay

Study of "holidays with pay" section of the provincial legislation dealing with working conditions will be studied by the executive of the whole section of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce.

The committee's study will be directed to position of commission salesmen under the legislation.

At present, employers have to pay two per cent of earnings to first year commission salesmen and four per cent to personnel with service over 12 months.

The committee will deal exclusively with this section of the legislation.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Trousseau Tea Held For Marjorie Prest

Carnations and stocks decorated the home of Mrs. B. J. Prest, when she entertained at a trousseau tea Friday afternoon to honor her daughter, Marjorie Prest whose marriage to D. A. McCannel will take place May 22. She will entertain again in the evening.

To receive her guests Mrs. Prest wore a gray crepe dress with pink rose corsage. Mrs. M. C. McCannel, mother of the bridegroom-elect chose a printed jersey dress complemented with a corsage of red carnations. Miss Prest was frocked in a printed jersey dress with a corsage of gardenias. Presiding at the tea were Mrs. Prest, Mrs. J. Cook, Mrs. L. H. Cullerne, Mrs. M. E. Stubbards and Mrs. C. Anderson. Assisting in serving were Mrs. T. Logan, Mrs. D. Manning, Mrs. A. Burrell, Mrs. O. Auberg and Mrs. R. Koscoe. Mrs. W. H. Elliott was in charge of the dining room.

Showing the trousseau were Jean Anderson, Mrs. W. Moore, Miss Fitzpatrick and Norma Chubb. Andrew Anderson was in charge of the door and Mrs. W. Moore in charge of the guest book.

Out-Of-Town Visitors in Edmonton

Mrs. J. G. Woodsworth accompanied by her daughter Peggy Woodsworth, arrived by plane from California to visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Wilding. J. G. Woodsworth is taking post graduate work at Stanford University.

Out-of-town visitors in the city this week, guests at the Macdonald hotel are Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Paulin, Traenadie, N.B., and Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Rohrbach, Reading, Pa.

Visiting in Edmonton for a few days are Mrs. M. C. Clews, Calgary, and Mrs. E. Bacon, Vancouver. They are guests at the Macdonald hotel.

Mrs. Leonard Thomas of Vancouver is in Edmonton to attend the wedding of her sister, Norm Jean Burns, which will take place May 20. While in the city Mrs. Thomas is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burns.

Mr. and Mrs. Jules Glauser and their daughter, Betty Glauser, leave Monday for Montreal from where they will sail for a four-month holiday in England and Switzerland.

Mrs. Agnes Bodnaruk announces the engagement of her daughter, Gwendolyn Peggy Bodnaruk to John Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Smith of Edmonton and the late Rev. Smith.

The wedding will take place at St. Stephen's Church June 11 at 7 p.m. with the Rev. W. T. Young officiating.

Honoring Oma Marler, who will soon leave for Canada, a surprise party was held at the home of Josephine McLaughlin. Guests were graduates of the Vermilion School of Agriculture.

Gift was presented to Miss Marler by Mary Lutzak and Marjorie Paulgaard. Assisting the hostess were Ruth Jackson and Ruby McCuskey.

Social get-together by members of the Patricia Ladies' Lawn Bowling Club will be held in the club house Wednesday at 2 p.m. All members and prospective members are invited to attend.

Reports were presented at the recent semi-annual meeting of the club. Plans were made for the coming season.

In honor of Davene Scouler, a bride-to-be of May 22, members of the Old Age Pensioners branch entertained at a shower at the home of Alice Johnston recently.

A corsage of red roses and miscellaneous gifts in a pink and silver decorated basket were presented to Miss Scouler.

Mrs. J. H. Watson entertained recently in honor of Mrs. J. Gladish of Dauphin, Man., who has been visiting for the winter with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. K. Goddard. Mrs. Gladish will return soon to her home.

Complimenting Joan Iyer, a bride-elect of June 1st, Mrs. William Murray entertained recently at a miscellaneous shower. There were 12 guests present.

OUTSTANDING EDMONTON SOPRANO Ruth Cullerne scored unusual success at the Edmonton district musical festival this week. Her mark of 90 in the operatic class was the highest awarded this year in vocal competition. She came first also in the soprano oratorio class and was a close second in the contest for the McGibbon trophy. Miss Cullerne is the present holder of the Women's Musical Club cup.

Dorothy Montgomery Wed In College Chapel

Cerise carnations and white tulips banded the altar of St. Stephen's College Chapel Wednesday afternoon for the double-ring ceremony of Dorothy Frances Montgomery and Leonard George Bussard.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. W. F. H. Montgomery of Wetaskiwin and the late Mr. Montgomery. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. L. S. Bussard of Wetaskiwin and the late Mr. Bussard.

The Rev. Rowan D. Rinning of Wetaskiwin performed the ceremony.

The bride, in a gown of white silk velvet, entered the chapel with her brother, James William Montgomery, who gave her in marriage. Her gown was styled with a tapered bodice, the skirt falling softly in a slight train and sleeves fashioned with lily-points over the wrists.

Her full-length veil was caught to her head with two gardenias, worn at each side. She carried a cascade bouquet of American Beauty roses.

Mrs. Wilbur F. Bowker, sister of the bride, was matron-of-honor and wore a cerise crepe gown with matching mittens and a bouquet of blue iris and cerise tulips. Her bridesmaids wore of cerise carnations.

Nora Palfrey was bridesmaid and chose a dusky blue crepe gown with matching mittens and a bouquet of cerise tulips and blue iris. Her bridesmaids wore of cerise carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the drawing room of the Macdonald hotel, where the mothers of the bride and bridegroom assisted in receiving.

Mother of the bride wore a dusky blue crepe dress with a flowered straw hat and black accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses.

Mrs. Bussard, mother of the bridegroom, chose a gray crepe dress with matching gray hat and white accessories. Her corsage was of red roses.

The bride's table was decorated with carnations and tulips and centered by a three-tier wedding cake. Later Mr. and Mrs. Bussard left on a honeymoon trip. The bride is travelling in a white galatrine suit.

At All Cosmetic Counters Everywhere

Fashions for the month-to-be won their spurs a few years ago in a style revolution waged against the stigma that stamped expandable clothes as maternity duds.

The "lady-in-waiting" who thinks her only wardrobe choice is a wrap-around dress or a butcher-boy smock isn't up on her fashions.

Modern dress designers have built a tremendous business on the idea that maternity fashions can be as smart and "up-to-the-minute" as any other clothes.

One proof of this is the need to have special "stork departments" in dress shops—otherwise you'd have difficulty spotting the maternity clothes.

To make important waistlines look important—devices such as draw-string belts, adjustable ring closings and other concealing aids for expansion are used.

Designers whip up the color of "stork clothes." Time was when mothers-to-be enveloped themselves in a dreadfully obvious navy blue or black creation and just sat and waited for the time when they could wear a few style-wise clothes again.

Interesting prints, usually of rather small geometric or floral design are popular.

Color and special neck detail are important for this attracts attention to the face.

Frilly, girly, crisp pique made into pretty-as-a-picture collars act as a balance.

For other designs, interest is focused below the hip-line. In the case of a pert two-piece print I saw the other day, it was made with a turtle top and a drawstring waist line.

The decorative decoy is a scalloped hand of white pique placed below the hip-line.

The art even cotton play-clothes in which the young mother-to-be can disport herself with no feeling of apology.

Adjustable slacks and shorts can be easily made.

The top is a boxy cotton jacket-shirt made of a print material.

Young mothers-to-be step out in smartly-styled fashions which play up color interest and details at neckline and below-the-hipline.

Home and School Group Plan Court Whist Drive.

Court whist drive will be held by the Home and School Association in the school Friday at 8:15 p.m.

Prizes will be offered and refreshments served. Proceeds will be used for school equipment. Admission 25c.

Delta Gamma Alumni Association will entertain graduating fraternity sisters at luncheon in the Jasper Room of the Macdonald hotel Tuesday at 12:15 noon.

Vancouver Girl Is Ballet Star

VANCOUVER, May 14.—(CP)—Margaret Banks, Vancouver Ballet star, has reached Broadway and success. She is playing one of the leads in a New York hit show "Look Ma, I'm Dancing."

The play is a take-off on ballet and has been running on Broadway since January, when Miss Banks first played understudy to Janet Reed. Then, when the latter became ill, she took over the role.

The pretty dancing star started her career under June Hoper and won a scholarship which took her to the Sadler Wells Ballet in London.

Lady Jaycees Plan June Lilacime Tea

Mrs. Vernon Sadd Named Convener; Tea to Be Held in Bay Empire Room

Lilac tea sponsored by members of the Ladies' Junior Chamber of Commerce will be held in the Empire Room of the Hudson's Bay Company store June 5 it was decided at a recent meeting of the club.

Mrs. Vernon A. Sadd will convene the tea, assisted by Mrs. Ted. Arlidge, Mrs. Joseph McKenzie and Mrs. Colin Campbell.

Report of her work was given by Mrs. J. Douglas Campbell, provincial representative of the L.J.C. Other Junior Chamber of Commerce organizations had been contacted with the aim of raising more L.J.C. groups throughout the province, she stated.

Guest speaker during the evening was Jean K. Gooderham, supervisor of occupational therapy for the 1st division of the General Hospital and the Royal Alexandra Hospital.

She spoke of her work in rehabilitating the patient to meet the world on the same level as a physically fit person. Members were thanked for their regular donation of cookies in papers and informed that text books and novels would be appreciated.

Mrs. J. Arlidge read a letter received from the president of the senior baseball league, expressing appreciation to the club's film committee for showing the 1947 Baseball Series film to clubs throughout the city.

Fred Lorne was the winner of a shell picture, titled by members. Miss Gooderham made the draw. Proceeds from the raffie are to be used for aquatic equipment for 10 veterans and for improvements to Ward 2 day room at the Colman Mewburn Pavilion.

Vote of thanks was accorded Mrs. Leonard Arlidge, donor of the picture and to Thelma Lucas, convener of the raffie.

Key: Declarer Can Lose Trump Trick

By William E. McKerney
Books on the play of the hand have been few and far between, as most experts find it difficult to write such a book, especially for the beginner. However, Terence Reese of England has a new book out entitled "Bridge on a Bridge" which I think presents some fine material. Today's hand is taken from that book.

Mr. Reese does not give any bidding, so the bidding shown here is the way I assume it might go.

♠ A 10 7
♥ K 9 8 2
♦ A 10 7 6 5
♣ A 10 7 6 5
N 5 Dealer
S 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2
W 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2
E 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2
S 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2
W 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2
E 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2

to break. But when the average player has eight trumps with three top honors he is apt to go ahead and hope they will break, then complain of bad luck if they do not.

In Mr. Reese's example West wins the first two spade tricks and South cashes the ace, king and queen of hearts. East will be able to intercept the running of the diamond suit by trumping, and the contract will be defeated.

Getting back to the first thought, South can afford to lose a trump trick, and Reese says, lose it right away.

The correct play after trumping the third spade is to cash the ace of hearts, then lead a small heart. East will have to win this. If he returns another spade it can be trumped in dummy. If he leads a diamond or club, declarer can win it, pick up the other trumps and proceed to run off the diamond suit.

Presbytery Asks Assembly Study Marriage Rates

MONTREAL, May 14.—(CP)—A recommendation that the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, meeting in Toronto next month, establish a committee to study Canadian marriage regulations was passed by the Montreal Presbytery last night.

Presbytery found that a "lack of procedure with regard to marriage" is a factor contributing to a rising divorce rate. It was also recommended that the proposed committee seek recognition in Canada of the British divorcees of Canadian servicemen. Members said such divorces are not recognized in the country and no servicemen are prevented from re-marrying.
